SACRED TO THE MUSES.

SUNNY TO HEARTS.

DELIGHTFUL visitor! thou lovest to quit
The couch of ease and splendid board of wealth,
At home, fore, in nature needs to visit
I will live, sweet companion, goddess health!

With thee I'll brave the angry storms of fate,
And learn undaunted all her ills to hate;
With thee I'll smiling pass the rich man's gate,
And treat with gen'rous scorn all stately fear.

Shed bounteous beam! to guide my simple lot,
Give me a friend, or kind, endearing wife,
Be thou still partner of my humble cot,
And journey with me in the maze of life—

When death's vesper stop! thy parting smile I crave,
Steal gently back and feed me in the grave.

ANECDOTE.

A robber being conducted to the gibbet, his confessor who exhorted him in the hour of death, said to him, "How happy oughtest thou to be, my dear son, who mayest now hope to rise this day in company with God and his holy angels in paradise." "Dear father," replied the other, "you will do me a very singular favor if you will go in my stead, for upon my word I have no appetite."

FRESH SUPPLY.

MACBEAN & POYZER,

Have just received from Lee & Co's FAMILY and MEDICINE WARE-HOUSE, Baltimore, a Large Supply of the most Celebrated

43 MEDICINES:
Price 1 dollar per packet,
Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges,

Which have, within two years past, given relief to upwards of FIFTY THOUSAND PERSONS, in various dangerous complaints, arising from worms and from foulness or obstruction in the stomach and bowels.

A peculiar excellence of this remedy is, its being suited to every age and constitution: it contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and it is found in its operation, that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body—but without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infect the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Tere or large round worm, the Ascaride, or small new worm, the Cucurbitus, or hork, bit, white worm, and lastly, the Tania, or tape worm, so called from its resemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is full of joints—it is most hurtful, and most difficult to cure.

Among the symptoms attending worms, are, disagreeable breath, especially in the morning—bad and corrupted gums—itching in the nose and about the face—constipation and epistemic fits, and sometimes privation of sleep—stomach and grinding of the teeth in sleep—irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious—Furrows with filny and fucid roots—Vomiting—Large and hard belly—Pains and icterus at the head—Pains in the head and thighs, with looseness of spirits—Slow fever, with small and irregular pulse—A dry cough—Extensive thirst—Sometimes pale countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness, having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

We shall give occasionally, an account of cures, selected from a number of persons in this State.

Thousands can testify of their being cured by these drops, after the most desperate and every other medicine has proved ineffectual; and not one in a hundred has had occasion to take more than one, and numbers not half a bottle.

These drops are particularly recommended to the inhabitants of low marshy countries, where the work of ages generally prevail, which unless early attended to and speedily removed, injures the constitution exceedingly, and brings on dropsy, putrid fevers, and a variety of complaints, of the most dangerous and alarming nature. Many other medicines are daily offered to the public for the cure of this disorder, which upon trial have been found either dangerous or useless. The use of this useful remedy made use of, but being a very nauseous medicine, and seldom taken in sufficient quantity, it is very often failed; and children, and those who have weak stomachs, are frequently lost for want of a more easy and pleasant remedy.

Dr. Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

Which have been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the southern part of the United States, particularly in Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons in each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy, has under Providence preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile, and prevent its noxious secretions to the system, and should the appetite be produced, a free perspiration, and thereby prevent colics, which are often of fatal consequence—A dose never fails to remove a cold, if taken on its first appearance.—They are celebrated for removing habitual colic, flatulency, sickness at the stomach, and severe head ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

DENEALE'S

PATENT KILN.

THE subscriber, a native born citizen of the commonwealth of Virginia, and residing at Dumfries, having invented a KILN for the purpose of drying Grain, particular Corn, and for which he has obtained a Patent from the General Government, is desirous of disposing of the privilege of erecting and using the said Kiln, to any persons who may apply for the same.

The advantages attending this Kiln, he flatters himself, will be found vastly superior to any thing of the kind now in use; it being erected at a very inconsiderable expense, and when used by manufacturers of Flour, may be worked with but little expence or manual labour, and it dries the Grain without injury to the colour, taste or smell of the Flour; and will render it capable of being kept without souring almost any length of time. From actual experiment, it has been found that one cord of wood is sufficient to dry from 1500 to 2000 bushels of Grain; and to those who are engaged in the business of manufacturing Corn Flour, the saving in labour and fuel will be immense, independant of other advantages.

His price for the privilege of using the Patent Kiln, accompanied with a drawing and explanatory notes, so as to enable any workman to erect it, will be Forty Dollars, for a Kiln containing 40 bushels, and one dollar for each bushel a Kiln contains above or under that quantity.

Letters addressed to him (POST-PAID) will be duly attended to.

James Daneale.

November 12, 1800.

Please read the annexed Certificates.

Since James Daneale completed his KILN for drying of Grain, (and for which he has received a patent right) I have got about fifteen hundred barrels of meal manufactured of corn dried therein, which was shipped to Alexandria, Norfolk and New-York, and at these places much approved of, as superior to meal made of corn dried in the mode heretofore common. Neither colour or taste is injured, as no smoke passes through it, or any portion subject to be burned, as in the old mode of drying; the process is so contrived, that every grain receives an equal portion of heat, the work is as effectually done, though little fuel is consumed comparatively with the old system, and much labour is saved. On the whole, I can with confidence say that it requires but to examine one of these "DENEALE'S KILNS" at work, to convince of its being an improvement which must become extensively beneficial to the community. Grain may be taken from the field, and immediately made fit to ship on the longest voyages. In southern climates, it must be more specially and generally useful, as thereby, and at small expence, the fly, or weevil, so troublesome and destructive, may be destroyed in embryo, immediately after harvest.

James Smith.

Dumfries, 7 November, 1800.

Fairfax County, to wit:

I do hereby certify that I was (with others) called on by Mr. James Deneale of Dumfries, to inspect a KILN constructed and contrived by him on a new plan, for drying of Indian Corn and other Grain, and after seeing this machine at work, observing the effect it had on the Grain, and viewing the model, I am of opinion that Mr. James Deneale's Kiln is constructed on the best plan of any that I have ever yet seen, for these reasons, that the Grain is well and equally dried, most other Kilns burn some grains and leave others undried; that the Grain dried in this Kiln is not smoked, that a much larger quantity may be dried in a given time, and that the fuel and labour necessary, is not one half of what other Kilns require: it is well known to every country the great advantage of Kiln-drying grain, corn in particular cannot be shipped on long voyages without, and that insect, so destructive called the fly may be destroyed in the grain by Kiln-drying. Given under my hand this 4th day of November, 1800.

George Gilpin.

ALEXANDRIA, 4th November, 1800.

To all whom it may concern, I do hereby certify, that I have examined the model of Mr. James Deneale's CORN KILN at Dumfries, and am fully satisfied that it is the best invention that has ever come under my notice for drying of grain, it will not require half the labour or fuel which was necessary, on the plan formerly in use. I likewise inspected several hundred barrels of meal at this port made from corn dried in said Kiln, and find it entirely free from being smoked, which has heretofore injured the meal very much, when the grain was dried on the plan formerly used.

Daniel Douglass.

Flour inspector.

I, Isaac M'Pherson, of the Occoquan mills, in the county of Prince William; (miller) do hereby certify, that I have worked one of James Deneale's new invented CORN KILNS, and find that I can dry 500 or 600 bushels of corn each day, and better than I ever saw corn dried on any other kind of Kilns: I am of opinion that one cord of wood will dry 2000 bushels of grain. I further find, that wheat may be dried immediately when taken from the field, which will be fit for shipping, and prevent the fly, or what is called the weevil from injuring the grain.

Isaac M'Pherson.

November 4, 1800.

I, Cleon Moore, Notary Public in and for the district of Alexandria, duly admitted and sworn, do hereby certify, that Daniel Douglass is Inspector of Flour for the Port of Alexandria; and that Isaac M'Pherson is a miller, and has been for some years largely concerned in that business, at the Occoquan mills:—that George Gilpin and James Smith are Gentlemen of respectability and reputed scientific abilities. Given under my hand, this 13th day of November, 1800.
